Pope Francis:

The Magi who set out following the star teach us that faith is a story of setting out and setting out anew. Faith does not grow if it remains static. We need to bring it outside, to live it in a constant journey towards God and towards our brothers and sisters.

And finally:- This weekend we celebrate the first of the thirty-three, or sometimes thirty-four, Sundays in Ordinary Time. Throughout these weeks our Sunday gospel readings, this year taken from the Gospel according to Matthew, do not focus on any specific mystery in the life of our Lord. Instead they focus our meditation on some aspect or another of the Lord teaching during the three years of His public ministry. The sermons He gave, the miracles He worked, the instructions He imparted to His first followers, reveal to us the mysteries of the Kingdom, the new way of living to which all of us, His followers, are called. This weekend, however, you might have a feeling of 'Déjà vu' as once again John the Baptist gives testimony to the events surrounding Christ's Baptism. Why? You may ask. Well the answer is quite simply. The key to our life as Christians, the source of our ability to live as He taught us to live, flow from the grace we received at our baptism.

May God bless you all. Fr. Craig
